

Hi friend,

Thanks again for signing up for Buying a Home Together: How to Co-Buy With Friends or Family the Right Way!

If you missed it (or want to send it to a friend), you can watch the replay here:

To recap, we talked through:

- How co-buying actually works
- Finding the right co-buyer
- Different ownership structures (LLC, TIC, Joint Tenancy)
- Financing options for co-buyers
- What happens when contributions aren't equal
- Protecting both the friendship and the investment
- Common mistakes to avoid

I also shared lessons from my own experience buying homes with friends, family, and partners over the last 10+ years.

What's next?

Hop onto our free platform and start playing around with tools like the co-buyer calculator or our checklist!

I really believe more people are going to start exploring creative ways to buy homes over the next few years... and I hope this gave you a clearer picture of what's possible.

If you have questions after watching, just hit reply. I read every response!

Best,
